THURSDAY JANUARY 23, 1902.

Sometimes in Union there is strength. In the case of the Union Party, there is weakness, dissolution, hypocrisy and corruption.

It is to be hoped that the collapse of the Union Party in Philadelphia will not interfere with the aspirations and plans of Senator Kline, the Chairman's friend, in his candidacy for Congress.

The gubernatorial contest is ended; the Philadelphia Inquirer has nominated and elected John P. Ekin to the chief magistracy of the Commonwealth. Mr. Ekin is to be congratulated upon his election.

It is hardly likely that any one will contest with Sir Alfred Ingham his right to the presumption of the Union Party title in Bucks county. It is the source of some satisfaction to be a big lion in a small paddock, you know, therefore we advise the editor of the esteemed Intelligence to hold on to his toy.

The expected has happened in the Union party, which is generally understood to have been built up on Wanamaker cash, has collapsed, and the politicians of Philadelphia who left the Republican fold are breaking their necks to get back under cover. The North American throws a black morning, and has taken to black-guarding all of its contemporaries.

New York State may "point with pride" to no more things when Pennsylvania gets over the border, but the State school appropriation is not one of the things to which attention is directed. There has been no increase in the public school fund in New York State since 1890. This year the Legislature has been induced to increase the fund by $270,000, making the total $3,750,000, which is very far short of what is done for free education in this State.

Statistics show that the cost of living in the United States has increased forty per cent. since 1897. The figures show beyond question that the farmer has got the lion's share of the gain, for somebody must gain where others are the losers. Manufactured articles have increased in price since 1897 20 per cent., wearing apparel 11 per cent., dairy and garden products 75 per cent., and bread stuffs 90 per cent. The farmer feeds us, and if he has the products to sell he is now on the high wave of prosperity.

The Philadelphia Ledger says that the non-Buck Republicans of that city were never so strongly intrenched in every place and at every point of vantage as they now are. They control absolutely every department of the municipal government. This result has been accomplished in face of the fact that every newspaper with a single notable exception, the Inquirer, has bitterly opposed those who have won victory after victory until now there are no more offers to capture. The political world of Philadelphia is Durham's. His power is mighty. If he has wisdom he will remember Croker's fate.

A majority of the United States Senate is in favor of the Panama canal route, or at least in favor of careful consideration of the question before entering the labyrinth of a canal. The canal has been talked about for half a century. The sentiment of the country is heartily in favor of such a canal, but there must be no "job" in it. The impression is growing that the Panama route is the most feasible, the cheapest, quickest and easiest for passage, has natural harbors and the many and specifications already prepared and a large amount of work done on it. Full consideration should be given to it at the price it is now offered before it is abandoned. There is no hurry; let us deliberate.

WOMAN'S CAUSE.

WOMEN'S DUTY TO THE CITY.

By Rev. R. Herbert Newton.

Every woman owes a duty to the city in which she lives. She should interest herself in its government. If she did there would be less sin, less crime, and more happy homes in the great centres of population.

"She should be given the right to vote. Her responsibilities of citizenship should be recognized. Some say that it would do her no harm. There is no danger of anything coming of it. When I hear women denying the manhood of those who are striving for the emancipation of their sex, I grow sick at heart. For I know there is more manhood in the society than in those who are termed the 'new' women."

"Here and there you might find an isolated case of a neglected home by the latter end of the street, and I will show you a thousand where the women have been weaned away from the home by the demands of society. From earliest history man has reserved the sphere of the state to himself, and he always has relegated woman to the home and to the church, which he has neglected himself. Can you give any sensible reason why these things should be?"

"Why should women be denied the right of suffrage?" asked Representative Henry C. Smith of Michigan, as a boy of members of the gentler sex passed. "Let it be decided and tell me if they would not exert an elevating and refining effect on the politics of this country. Our women are pure and intelligent, and are well qualified to fulfill the duties of a citizen, and I believe the country would be benefited by allowing them to vote."

"I would like to see them in the House of Representatives, the Senate, and other public places they would do us much good. Universal suffrage, some of whom possess great wealth, should be given to the right of suffrage, when it is given to every male of the legal age, who may be willing to be a leader in the movement. I will introduce a resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution providing for the right of suffrage to every citizen, male or female. This may cause some criticism, but I believe it is proper women should be given the right to vote."

"I am a great believer in women, and they exert a wholesome effect by their presence. I have a number in my office, and I prefer to keep them. They are clean and neat, they take the place of tobacco chewing men, and the fellows who tell vile stories."

THE METHODIST WOMEN'S VICTORY.

The decision of the Methodist Episcopal Church making women eligible to seats in the General Conference has been hailed with universal approval. The press comments show pretty general conviction that the step was inevitable, and was in fact only a simple matter of justice and common sense. The wide-spread public approval is a strong testimony to the fact that it is a fair play inherent in the American people.

This victory will also add an impetus to the growing movement that seeks to give women "equal opportunities in the State as well as in the church. Every argument that can be urged against letting a woman vote applies with tenfold force against letting her be a delegate to the General Conference. It is said that she would be exposed to too much excitement. Religious controversies are notoriously hotter and more bitter than political ones. Is it said that she would be brought into too much publicity? The casting of a simple ballot does not require a title of the publicity involved in taking part as a delegate in a great ecclesiastical assembly. Is it urged that she would have to give too much time? A woman who attends the General Conference may have to spend weeks away from home; whereas, she could cast her ballot in half an hour.

It is worthy of note that the man who has been most strongly against equal rights for women in the General Conference are almost all of them, like Dr. Buckley, opposed also to equal rights of women at the ballot box. A defeat for them at one point means their ultimate defeat all along the line.

The vote was overwhelming. Out of 130 conferences that voted on the question, only 20 voted against the women. Of these twenty, all but four were German, Swiss or Danish. The four were Baltimore, New York East (Dr. Buckley's conference), Southern California and Washington. Fourteen conferences recorded themselves in favor of the woman by a unanimous vote.

ETHEL C. AVERY.

WOMAN'S WORK IN MUNICIPAL REFORM.

Of late some of these ultra-conservatives who profess to hear dreadful things if women should get mixed up in politics, have been praising these same women for the part they have taken in promoting and actually bringing about various municipal reforms. Unquestionably the praise is entirely deserved but it ought to occur to these invidious opponents of woman suffrage that praise, even when merited, may be accompanied with some inconveniences. Suppose, for example, the women of New York City, after working for nearly two years for the passage of the law in no small degree to the success of the movement, which every one hopes will result in reform, should take it into their heads that they might vote for what they want as well as work for it?

To give women credit for raising money, making speeches and dragging up voters on election day is to make ridiculous any protest of fear of what may happen when they get into politics. For clearly they are already. Of course this evident inconsistency has nothing to do with the practical question or the practical working of woman suffrage, but it may have some little to do with raising the respectability of the cause. At any rate, the possible effect of so much praise of the women for their part in the New York election is worthy of consideration by the timorous. —Manchester, N. H. Union.

EQUAL PAY FOR WOMEN.

A man who deserves the gratitude of women is Director of Charities of the Cleveland, O., Workhouse. The principal industry in that institution is the broom making, and the custom has been to pay the women just half as much for their labor as the men, although the record showed that the work they averaged the same. Thus it took women twice as long as a man to work out her fine. The present director sensibly declared this discrimination "a rank injustice," and he has just abolished it.

Mrs. Ida H. Harper says in the N. Y. Sun: "Some reforms have to begin at the bottom and work up. Perhaps this one in time may reach the public schools, where the same practice is followed." Where women quickly feel the influence of it. In Wyoming, it has for many years been the law that men and women in the employ of the State (including teachers) receive the equivalent for equal work. In Utah, the women that suffrage had been granted to were quickly followed by news that the legislature had passed a bill whereby female teachers in the public schools were to receive the same pay as male teachers, provided they held certificates of the same grade. These are among the practical results of equal suffrage.

Bristol Wins Christmas Tie Game.

On Monday evening Bristol's National League basketball team won a sensational victory over the Trenton aggregation at Trenton. It was one of those contests which will ever be remembered by those who were present. Both teams were in the pink of condition, and both bent the knees to the goal and the result, in a great measure, determined the championship.

After forty minutes of the fastest play that was probably ever witnessed upon any field Bristol overcame a lead of nine points at the end of the first half and won by the final score of 30 to 25.

During the first half Trenton set a furious pace, which was impossible for any team to keep up and as a result when the game was half over Trenton was a wreck while Bristol who used far better judgment, set a pace in the last ten minutes that stupefied the Jerseyans. During the first half Trenton had things pretty much their own way, the remarkable features. When the Bristol boys returned to the dressing room for the ten minutes' rest at that point, confident of winning the game, as they knew Trenton could not keep up its pace, while they had reserved their speed for the final struggle. The first half ended 19 to 10 in Trenton's favor. In the second half Bristol started in from the top of the ball and gave an exhibition of scientific basket ball that is seldom witnessed. Klein started the field goal, Everingham followed by making two, Bennett and Shields also figured in the scoring. Bristol caught up to Trenton at 22 points and then the Bucks continued to set up a yelling that nearly raised the roof. The rapid work, the clever passing and accurate shooting was kept up until the gong sounded and Bristol had won the game by the score of 30 to 25.

In a wild attempt to save the game Trenton pulled out Endbrook at centre in the second half and substituted Riley. Later Harrison went out and Cooper came in, but Bristol was coming down the hill at a rate that nothing could stop them. Shields and Klein played together like clockwork, while Everingham covered his man well during the second half and scored three field goals. Bennett and Klein held Trenton forwards down to one goal apiece during the entire game, while Bennett distinguished himself by caging the ball three times.

The game was a remarkable one for its clearness considering the fastness of the game. Most of the fouls were called for holding. The line-up: Bristol Positions Trenton Klein forward Lindsay Shields forward Stout Everingham centre Riley Endbrook guard Bennett guard Harrison Plant Goals from field—Klein 2, Shields 3, Everingham 3, Bennett 3, Stout, Lindsay, Endbrook 1, Stinger 9, Harrison 5. Referee—Smallwood.

Bristol's quartette of basket ball artists made the champions New York like the third of thirty cents on Saturday night. The home players were in excellent condition and all had their shooting tags on. Hough, who is getting over an attack of the grippe, did not play and on one point presses their ultimate defeat all along the line.

Bristol Girls Play Ball.

On Saturday afternoon ten young ladies of the Bristol High School played a game of basket ball at the Auditorium. The teams were composed of members of the classes of 1902 and 1903. About a hundred ladies witnessed the game and the only male present was a youth who acted as referee. The details of the game have been meagre, but one enthusiastic music declares it was the most exciting contest ever played in the Auditorium. The players were clad in short skirts and sweaters. After forty minutes of play the game resulted in a tie, the score being 4 to 4. The line-up:

1902	Positions	1903
Miss McNally	forward	Miss Force
Miss Pearson	forward	Miss Farrell

Miss Kreider	guard	Miss Dean

Goals from field—Farrell 2, Owens 1, Pearson 3, Force 2, Allen 1, Marshall 1, Dean 1. Time of halves 20-minutes. Referee—Samuel Pearson.

In the factory league contest the Rolling Mill team easily defeated the Carpet Mill on Saturday night before the big game at the Auditorium, by the score of 9 to 1. The "rollers" completely outplayed the "weavers" at every point. The factory contents have proved to be drawing cards and the games are spirited. The line-up:

FACTORY LEAGUE.

The following is from the Inquirer: "Bristol has retained its star men, where other teams have lost theirs through various bits of hard luck. Manager Smith has certainly been fortunate in this respect. Basket ball is tremendously popular at Bristol through Mr. Smith's hard work in the interest of the game. He has left nothing undone to further the interests of the sport. He has secured the best talent obtainable, and he has invariably kept faith with his patrons."

It is reported that a fair maid of Gotham has captured the heart of "Sandy" Shields, and as soon as basket ball season is over "Sandy" will join the list of beneficiaries.

Repairing Neatly Done

Never thought of such a sign for a medicine did you? Well, it's a good sign for Scott's Emulsion. The body has to be repaired like other things and Scott's Emulsion is the medicine that does it.

These poor bodies wear out from worry, from over-work, from disease. They get thin and weak. Some of the new ones are not well made—and all of the old ones are racked from long usage.

Scott's Emulsion works all kinds. It does the fibres both inside and out. It makes soft bones hard, thin blood red, weak lungs strong, hollow places full. Only the best materials are used in the patching and the patches don't show through the new glow of health.

No one has to wait his turn. You can do it yourself—you and the bottle.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle. Send for free sample. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl St., New York. 50c. and $1. at druggists.

Bristol vs. Trenton. Well, our team went up to Trenton with determination, but on winning that tie game, "twas played, we think, on Christmas night. And our hopes were well grounded. That when the "twas" bell was sounded, why, the thirty team from Bristol could claim everything in sight.

When the first half it was ended, we saw that the game was decided. With a taste of Jersey flavor that we couldn't well keep down.

Then "Pleasant" stars got together. And, well, say I enjoyed the weather. That the only town and people looked as they'd been "done brown."

The "Big Five" aggregation, put such a combination. That "Pleasant" said "they've got us," and they ground their teeth with rage. Our team's passing and "heir shoe" thing. Made their friends so wild with "crowing."

But what was that we were best in. To bounce them and to bounce them in their own back yard.

Basket Ball Notes.

Bristol forever.

Philadelphia tonight.

The pennant is clinched.

With Shields in the line-up means team work.

"Sandy" was a good fellow to have in pickle. Manager Smith had a long head when he signed Shields.

Manager Smith says the championship must come to Bristol.

Turn out tonight and give the Bristol boys a rousing welcome.

"A Bristol finish" is a new phrase that has been added to basket ball parlance.

The New York team will play in Bristol again on Thursday evening of next week.

Slinger evidently does not care to play Shields any more. He covered Klein at Trenton.

Everingham missed eighteen free throws at Trenton. Bill should take a day off and practice.

One hundred and thirty-six tickets were sold at Bristol station to Trenton on Monday night.

Hough watched the game at Trenton. Harry declares he will be in fit condition in a few days.

A meeting of the National League will be held at Trenton on Saturday night of the night of January 30.

Wonder why Stinger did not play Shields? Probably the ruffian thought it would be safer to handle little Charlie Klein.

The unexpected happened Saturday night when the Phillies beat Millville and Trenton defeated Camden on the latter's floor.

Bennett and Plant put up star games at Trenton. Trenton's grounds were but one goal apiece, while Bennett captured three.

Bristol took first place when the season first opened and has held the position throughout except for the brief period of a few days.

Bristol has won four out of five games with Trenton—two victories on Trenton floor, two on Bristol floor. Trenton won the first game at Bristol.

The tie game which the young ladies of Bristol High School played last Saturday afternoon will be played off on Saturday afternoon, February 8th.

After the game at Trenton Manager Smith showed his appreciation of Bristol's heroic work by presenting each member of the team with an extra greenback.

It is not likely that Rutchman will ever again appear on the Bristol floor. His work was so "yellow" that Manager Smith entered a protest that had to be heeded.

The Bristol High School girls teams have natty uniforms. The class of '02 wear black skirts and black sweaters with a large '02 embroidered in orange on the back. The '03 team wears a maroon sweater.

The Phillies are now playing in splendid form. Their defeat of Millville on Saturday demonstrates that the reorganized Franks are a force with which to be reckoned in determining the championship. Quaker Morgan's new line-up will be seen in Bristol for the first time tonight.

The National League will be bigger and stronger than ever next year. Some changes will be made as to teams composing the league. It is very doubtful if New York will again be members, as they are no longer a drawing card, and the heavy guarantee given the Wanderers is not compensated at the ticket window.

The day before the game Manager Riley's paper stated that the Trenton's were in prime condition and were "as frisky as colts." The day after the contest, however, he whined about his team suffering from the results of a hard game at Camden on Saturday. Bristol played a hard game, too, on Saturday against the New York athletes. The day after the game Riley gave every indication of being a cheap sport, who is not manly enough to acknowledge a clear, clean defeat.
